ABOUT MARK STORY

Mark Story personifies confidence and strength to fill roles such as an American soldier leading his band of brothers after the invasion of Normandy, as well as the ability to be fragile and wounded as an Artist seeking why he has lost his way.

Mark was born in Mountain View, California, and grew up in the southern US. Having worked in features, shorts, pilots, television shows, and commercials, Mark continues to refine his acting craft. Mark is also an entrepreneur in the travel industry. Mark's age range is 40s to 50s.

WORKING WITH MARK

"From his audition all the way through until release, Mark has been one of the most professional and amicable actors that I've personally worked with. Not only would I work with him again in a heartbeat, I've actually since written roles with him specifically in mind."

– Director Brian Wilson

Academy of the Arts

Having trained in the Academy of the Arts in Denver, Mark Story began his professional acting career performing in independent film and commercials. Inspired by his sister's performance career in acting and music, he followed suit and first appeared in school plays in High School, community theater and short film.

Experienced Actor

Having worked in a multitude of features, shorts, pilots, television shows, and commercials, Mark continues to refine his acting craft.

Entrepreneurial Minded

Mark is heavily involved in the on-screen work related to travel tourism.
